

I support the FISTS CW Club's proposal, RM-10811, completely and urge the FCC seriously consider it.

In the day and time we need "Quality" radio amateurs, not "Quantity"

Our General and Extra CW bands are being infiltrated with unskilled operators trying to send CW at 5 wpm or less. This is what the Novice bands were intended for and the FCC has taken that away.

If the morse requirement is removed will our CW bands be taken away too?

Respectively,

Charles D. Summers - W4DON